To Whom it May Concern:

LW5S Ed is a 501c3 nonprofit organization with the mission of ensuring a free and equitable 21st Century education and lifelong learning opportunities for all. We are a United Nations Committed Organization, recognized for our commitment to the Sustainable Development Goals. On behalf of LW5S Ed, I would like to personally invite you to make a difference in the lives of teachers and children worldwide.

We are currently seeking program sponsors for our 2022 and 2023 programs. As a nonprofit we rely on sponsors and donations to ensure that we can continue to carry out our mission. Your sponsorship of the program will allow us to provide free English classes to children in Dakar at our Center for Global Learning and in rural schools around Saint Louis, Senegal. It will also allow us to bring much-needed supplies to our partner schools in Senegal, provide teachers with professional development, and offset the cost of our programs for students in need. Further, we have procured some land in the Thies region of Senegal, in a rural village called Diass. On this land, we plan to build a unique school focusing on experiential learning through bilingual education and the arts and will focus on promoting 21st Century skills.

Your sponsorship will help so many advance equitable education opportunities both in our own communities and worldwide. We offer several interesting sponsor packages for you to consider. You can register for a sponsorship online at www.lw5seeducation.com/sponsorships or scan the QR code:

Your sponsorship will be valid from the time you register as a sponsor until August 30, 2023. Thank you so much for taking the time to consider sponsoring our important work.

We sincerely appreciate your contribution and truly value every gift. It is because of sponsors like you that we can continue our positive contributions in the world. Should you have any questions please feel free to reach out to our funding director, Angélique Péré at angelique@lw5seeducation.com or (509) 405-8064.

Sincerely,

The Language with the Five Senses Leadership Team:

Elizabeth Porter - Founding Director and Director of Bilingual Education

Moussa Barry - Founding Director and Director of Education

Ibrahima Mbaye - Director of Culture

Veronique Laurant - Director of Business and Human Resources

Esmeralda Villarreal - Director of Fiances and Dual Language

Ana Rosales Ordonez - Director of Spanish Education

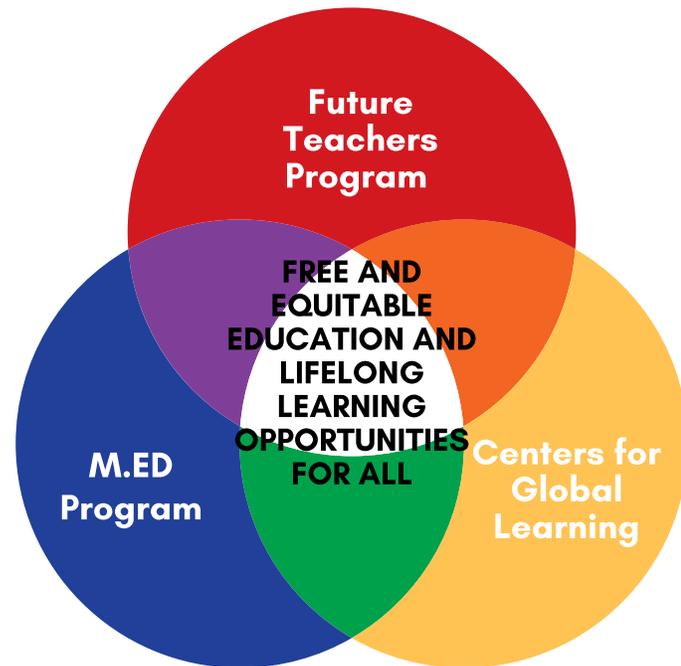

Angélique Péré - Director of Funding and Fundraising

Our Educational Ecosystem

Building a Worldwide Educational Ecosystem

At LWSS Education we are building an interdependent, worldwide educational ecosystem. This system is meant to build a strong educator workforce and reinforce 21st Century skills in education.

We believe that several problems in education worldwide can be answered through a strategic, systems approach. Through our projects and programs, we are building a globally interconnected educational ecosystem that is learner-centered for the 21st Century and that answers three of the most pressing issues in education currently:

1. Critical teacher shortages
2. Equitable access to education both at the k-12 and post-secondary levels
3. The critical need for 21st Century skill-building, which include:
 - Language instruction at the elementary level
 - Increased Culturally Responsive and Social-Emotional Learning Practices and Pedagogies
 - Experiential learning models that promote creativity and incorporate Universal Design for Learning.

Our Educational Ecosystem

Centers for Global Learning and Bilingual Academy

All of our teachers and future teachers that come to train at our Centers for Global Learning in Senegal, also receive crucial field experience because our Centers for Global Learning also double as bilingual school programs for Senegalese people. Our school programs are based on an experiential learning model. The teachers in our school are trained and certified in the LW5S Method and provide a learning environment that is learner-centered and that fosters creativity, innovation, critical thinking, and global mindedness.

Future Teachers

Growing a 21st Century Teacher Workforce

The Future Teachers program is designed to build a strong, 21st Century educator workforce that empowers and equips teachers to educate for an increasingly global world. This program is critical for growing a new generation of 21st Century educators who possess the same skills that they need to facilitate in the classroom and provide to students. These skills include:

- Bilingualism
- Creativity
- Critical Thinking
- Digital Literacy
- Problem Solving
- Collaboration and Collaborative Inquiry

This program addresses the issues of teacher recruitment and retention, especially of culturally and linguistically diverse educators, and access to higher education for underrepresented and marginalized groups.

This program also addresses the significant lack of professional development and support for teachers and the widening gap in support between teacher preparation and early years in the classroom.

This program also addresses the need for language instruction at the elementary level.

Our Educational Ecosystem

In-Service Teachers

M.Ed in Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Education

This program is designed for teachers who are already in the classroom or those who already have a Bachelor's degree and have the desire to become a teacher. This program combines coursework in language instruction and pedagogy with cultural and linguistic immersion and experience teaching diverse learners at our CGLs in Senegal.

This program addresses the need to build a more Culturally Responsive and linguistically diverse teacher workforce, while also providing essential professional development and support to educators worldwide.

Global Classrooms

Mentor Teachers

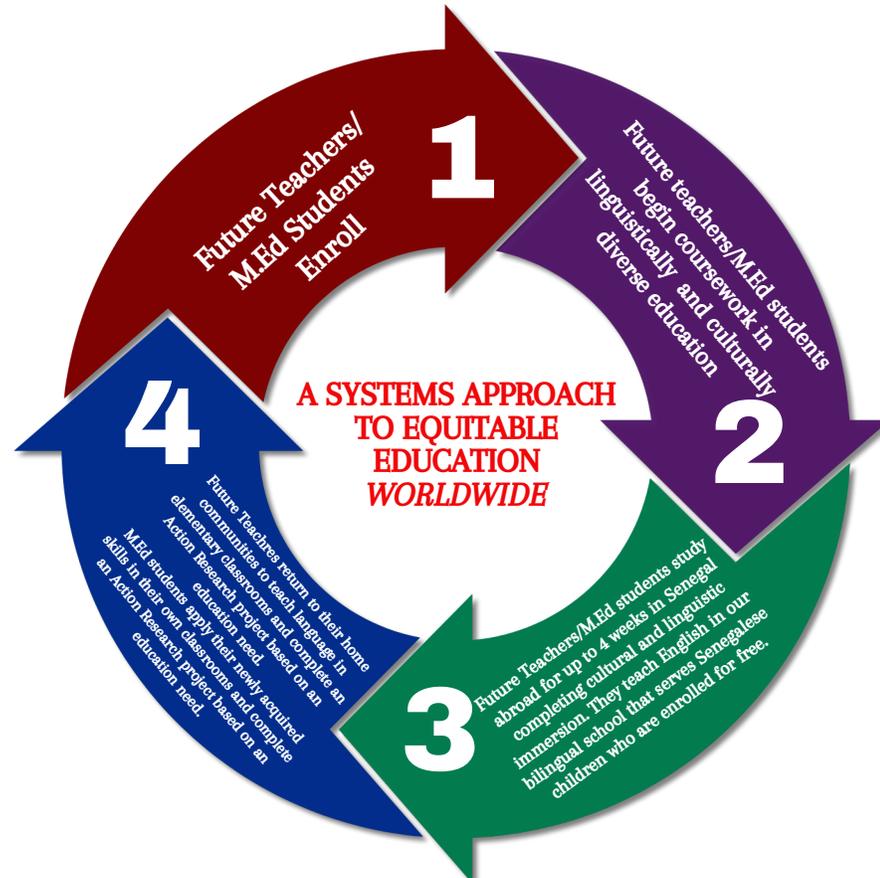

Global Classrooms is a program at Language with the Five Senses Education (LW5S Ed) linking North American educators to educators in countries in Europe and Africa via the LW5S Education Global Learning Centers. The LW5S Ed Global Learning Centers are in Spain, France, Italy, and Senegal. Teachers who participate in the Global Classrooms program are partnered with a teacher in one of our partner countries. Over the course of a school year the teacher partners engage in collaborative inquiry and professional development. They come together at one of the Centers for Global Learning during a three-week period to work in person.

Upon their return to the United States, the American teachers and their international partners engage their classes in cooperative learning activities through a curriculum based on the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and the LW5S Ed 21st Century Education Framework. The mission of Global Classrooms is to enhance the teacher participants' cultural competencies and increase student achievement through experiential learning, digital literacy, and global connections. The program is meant to bring the world into the classroom.

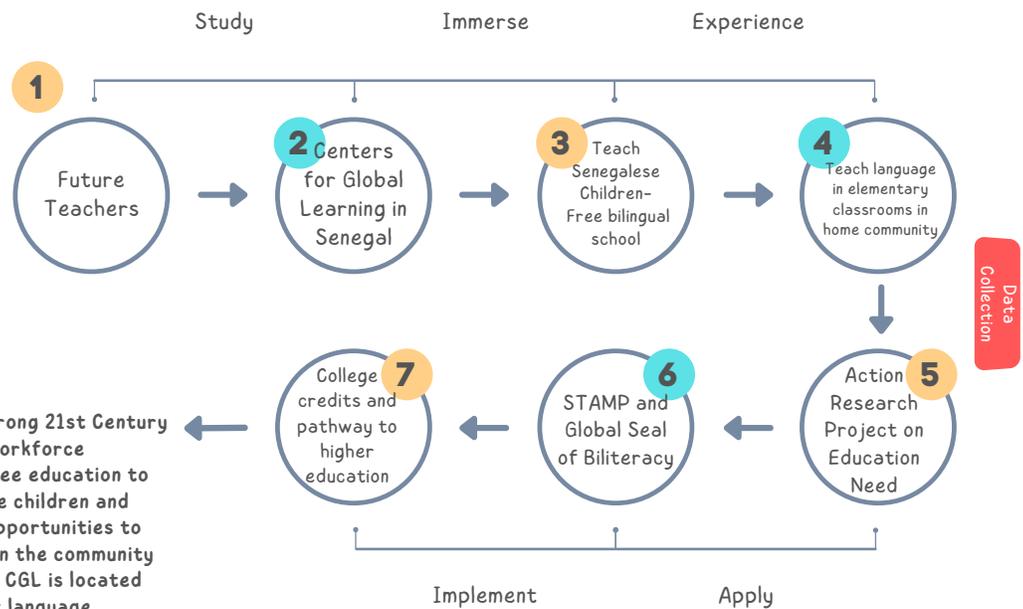

The LW5S Ed Global Classrooms Program is defined as a collaboration between two teachers, who live in different countries and who are of different nationalities. This collaboration includes the following factors:

- Professional development to develop and enhance linguistic, global, and cultural competencies.
- Collaborative activities between the two teachers to learn about each other as humans, each other's cultures, and each other's countries both virtually and in person.
- One lesson per week on social justice and/or global issues in each classroom that aligns with collaborative work the students will do together.
- Integration of language study in the elementary classroom.
- A yearlong cooperative learning project between students in both classrooms where students in both classrooms meet at least once per month via video and work together to complete cultural learning activities and complete a culminating service project at the end of the school year.
- Based on the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and the LW5S Ed 21st Century Education Framework.
- Virtual and in-person collaboration between both educators and virtual collaboration between students in both classrooms.

Our Educational Ecosystem

Our Education Ecosystem

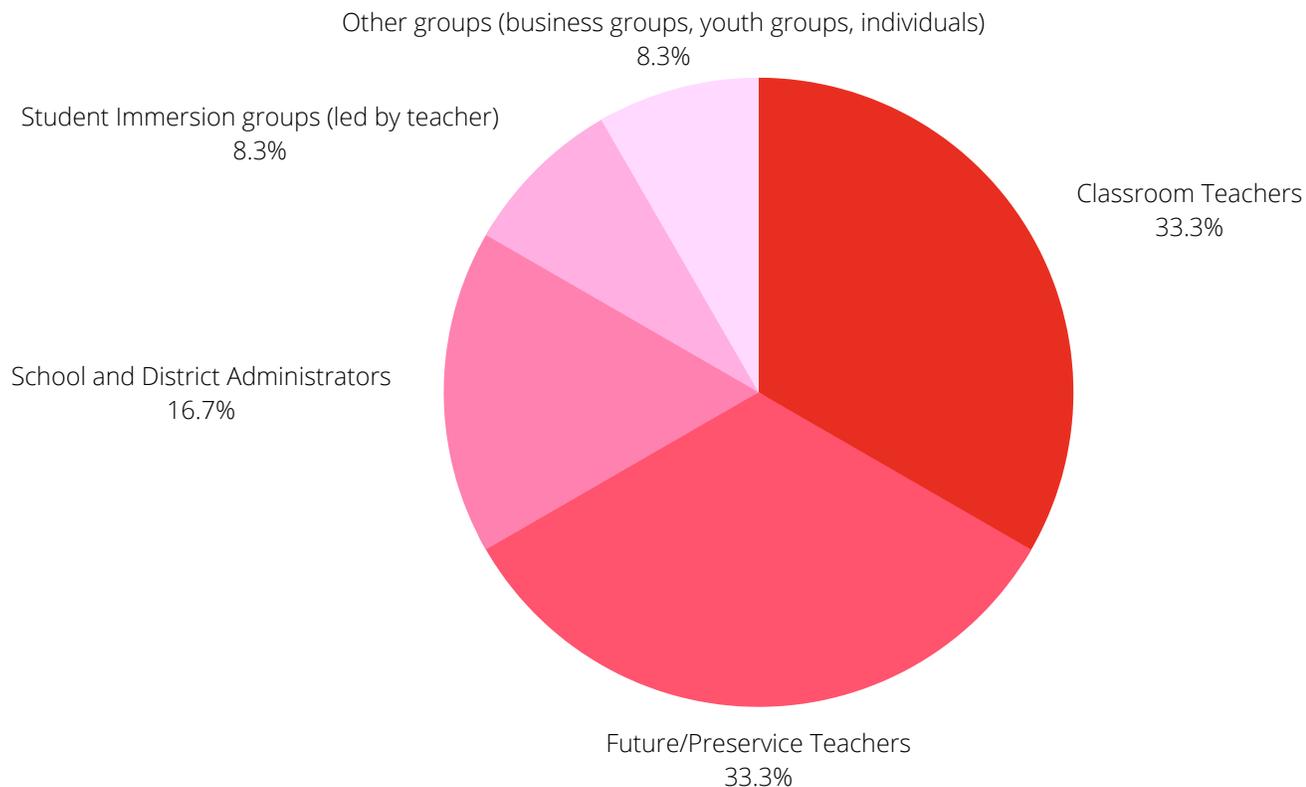

- Final Goals:
- Grow a strong 21st Century teacher workforce
 - Provide free education to Senegalese children and learning opportunities to everyone in the community where the CGL is located
 - Implement language instruction at the elementary level.
